-Review by Kim DeBlauw

Misunderstood: The Impact of Growing Up Overseas in the 21st Century is a new book published by Tanya Crossman, an adult “third culture kid” who has mentored TCKs in Asia for the past ten years.

Crossman includes an excellent synthesis of key points from existing literature about TCKs and adds insights from hundreds of interviews with TCKs around the world. In addition to explaining the TCK’s unique world view, the author provides practical tips on ways that parents and others who work with youth can be most supportive. A must read for FS families!
